Gvox.encore.v5.0.0-air.rar. 83 Share:Q: MongoDB specify unique and index on 2 fields I have a site where I have two independent pools of items; Articles and Videos. Each item has an id: Article { _id title author } Video { _id title author } Each group can have one or more articles and videos. I want each group of items to have its own unique ID, as well as the separate ids for each item inside of that group. This data will need to be stored in a MongoDB database, and I've been struggling with this for hours. After some pondering, I thought that I could use a tag to identify each group of articles/videos; Article group one { _id tag: group1 } Article group two { _id tag: group2 } Video group one { _id tag: group1 } Video group two { _id tag: group2 } This way when I query for all items that belong to a specific tag it could map any item inside of the group to the given _id. This seems to make sense, but I have no idea how to even start with this in terms of the mongoDB
